

THE

TRAVELERS' OFFICIAL GUIDE

Is published under the auspices of the

GENERAL PASSENGER AND TICKET AGENTS' ASSOCIATION.

The time-tables published in its columns are compiled directly from the official time-tables which are used by the employes, and from information furnished by the officers in charge of the time-table departments of the several roads.

It contains, in addition to the list of officers and their addresses, which are published at the head of the time-tables, an Official List of the Officers in charge of General Ticket Departments, with the names of the parties to whom remittances, and on whom drafts for the settlement of such accounts, should be made; an Official List of Purchasing Agents, with their addresses; an Official List of Officers in charge of Car Service Accounts, by whom reports are made, to whom reports should be sent, and upon whom drafts should be drawn.

The standard of time by which each road is run is noticed at the head of each table, and, in addition to this, upon the back of the General Map is given a table of the names of the roads running by the several standards. As there are some seventy-seven different standards, all with considerable variations of time, the necessity of this table is apparent. Upon the front page of the cover of the OFFICIAL GUIDE is a diagram showing the difference in the time of these standards as compared with meridian time at Washington, D. C.

One page in the book is devoted to "Explanations of the manner of using the Official Guide." For the benefit of foreigners traveling in this country a translation of the "Explanations" is given in the French, Spanish, and German languages.

A large number of fine maps, showing the lines of the several roads, embellish its pages, and a "General Map" of the whole country is bound with it. This map is corrected up to the date of each issue, and is believed to be the most accurate map of the kind published.

Full advertisements of the several inland and foreign steamship lines are also published, and a table of the times of sailing of the Ocean Steamers from the ports of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, carefully corrected each month by the enterprising firm of Cook, Son & Jenkins, of New York, is an additional feature of importance.

INTRODUCTION.

In using the GAZETTEER, it must be borne in mind that primarily it is, what the name indicates, a Gazetteer of Railway Stations. The list of these is very full, embracing all points named in the official time-tables as used by the employés of the roads, with many others of minor importance not so mentioned. The location as to county and State of all these points has been carefully compiled, and will be found herein, together with certain characters indicating all such as have post, telegraph or express offices attached to them. A very full statement of the population of the towns will also be found.

The "Compendium of the Ninth Census" is a valuable publication and reflects much credit upon the gentlemen under whose direction it was compiled. Owing, however, to defects in the law under which the census was taken, in many of the States the population of the smaller incorporated places, known as "boroughs" in Pennsylvania, and as "towns" in other portions of the country, is not mentioned, —the population of the entire "township" or "parish" alone being given. As these frequently embrace a very large section of the country, the figures given could not be used in the GAZETTEER.

It is a curious fact that, in the whole of New England, the population of but eighty of the "Minor Civil Divisions" is given, while in New York State alone the details for over six hundred places may be found.

This difficulty we have however been able to overcome in very many cases through the courtesy of the officers of the several roads, who have kindly furnished the necessary information. Wherever the precise figures are given, the population has been taken from the census of 1870; where it is given in round numbers, it is the estimated population at the present time. The figures for Canadian towns have in a similar manner been obtained from the census of 1870-71 or from other official sources. The population of a larger number of points will be found upon our pages than in any publication heretofore issued.

Special attention is called to the List of Old and New Names of Roads as given upon pages xix-xxviii. No such list has, we believe, ever been heretofore published. In many parts of the country the roads are still known by their former titles, notwithstanding their lease or consolidation with other lines, and in such cases this list will be found of material assistance in using the GAZETTEER. It is also of value to financiers, the first mortgage bonds of many roads still remaining in the name of the original corporations.

In the list of routes operated by the Express Companies, the original titles of the roads have been given in several instances. The proper designation will be found by reference to the above-mentioned list.

The several marks used in the list of railway stations and in the tables of river distances, to designate post, telegraph and express offices, signify in each case that one of these offices may be found either at the station itself or in the adjoining town. Goods may be expressed to almost every point mentioned in the book, but there is an agent to receive them only at the points marked "□."

In some cases post offices are connected with certain stations, bearing, however, a different name. In no case has such a station been designated as a post office, unless the name varied so little (such as the addition of "ville," &c.) as not to lead to confusion.

Frequently a post office will be found upon a certain line of road bearing the same name as a station upon another part of the line. Upon the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad "William Penn" Station is in Schuylkill county, Pa., on the Shenandoah Branch, while "William Penn" post office is in Montgomery county, near Spring Mills Station of the Norristown Branch. This is but an example of numerous similar cases. Twelve roads have changed name since the compilation was commenced, and the stations are now credited to the roads as most recently designated.

The several tables of Court Terms, River Towns and Distances, Location of the Piers of the cities of New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia, have been made special features of the work and will be found to be valuable additions. The Express Directory of Wells, Fargo & Co. has never before been published for the use of the public.

We desire to express our special obligation to the officers of the several companies for the courtesy with which our requests for information were received, and for the liberal manner in which they have been responded to. Much of the merit it possesses is in no small degree due to their encouragement and support.

The field has not yet been exhausted. The large number of towns in various parts of the country not directly attached by name to any railway station would require a special directory. While we have a vast amount of material at hand adapted for the compilation of such a "Directory," our first endeavor has been to make a correct Gazetteer of the railway stations, as they are the initial points from which all such towns are reached.

The changes that are being made in matters affecting the information given upon these pages will in time affect the accuracy of some of the minor details. In the monthly publication of the "Travelers' Official Guide" we possess the means of constantly informing our patrons of these changes. Upon its pages will be found each month a notice of such alterations in the post offices, express offices, &c., as affect the details given herein. The importance of this may be illustrated by the fact that the average number of new post offices established monthly is about one hundred, of which number probably one-half are railway stations. The names of many stations are changed, between sixty and seventy new ones are added, and a considerable number discontinued each month. The changes in telegraph and express offices are in about the same ratio. As we intend to make the GAZETTEER a standard publication, the changes above mentioned will be embodied in each subsequent edition.

LIST OF OLD AND NEW NAMES OF ROADS.

[The stations in the Gazetteer have been credited in all cases to the roads under the names by which they are now officially known. The large number of roads that have been consolidated, by lease or otherwise, with other lines makes necessary the publication of the following list of old and new names of roads, in order to enable those who are not familiar with the new titles to properly understand the locations of the stations.]

WELLS, FARGO & CO.'S EXPRESS.

REMARKS.

East of the Mississippi river the country is generally so well supplied with railroad facilities that not many towns of much importance are more than a few miles from some railway station. West of the Rocky Mountains, and on their immediate eastern slope, including the States of California, Nevada and Oregon, and the Territories of Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, is a country embracing within its borders some 1,210,000 square miles of territory, and inhabited, according to the census of 1870, by a population of 990,510 souls.

In the whole of this vast region, rich in mineral wealth and unsurpassed in the productiveness of its soil, there are but three thousand six hundred and twenty-seven miles of railroads in operation at the present time. Inhabited mainly by emigrants from the more easterly portions of the land, with many ties still binding them to their old homes, there is a special need for the publication of such information as will enable them to be reached at even the most remote point.

For many years almost the sole link binding the Pacific slope to the "States," the agents and messengers of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express Line are still to be found ever in advance among the pioneers of civilization.

In the following "List of Principal Points, Counties and States, showing the nearest Express Offices to same, in territory occupied by Wells, Fargo & Co.," which we have been permitted, through the courtesy of the officers of the above-named company, to publish, will be found directions for reaching almost every point embraced within this immense area.

In addition to the many offices at railway towns and railway stations mentioned in the Gazetteer, the Company has also offices at the points named below. These it will be found necessary to refer to in using the Express Directory.

The Supreme Court meets at Bennington on the even years; the odd years at Manchester. The County Court holds the June term at Manchester, and the December term at Bennington.

The Supreme Court has no original jurisdiction except for divorce; but is a court of errors for the trial of questions of law, and a court of appeal in chancery suits. There is a general term of the Supreme Court held annually, at such time and place as the Court shall direct; also a term in each county annually. Each Judge of the Supreme Court is a chancellor, and holds his court at the same time of the County Court.

The County Courts have original jurisdiction in all civil actions for over $200, or in relation to real estate, except trespass, where the damages claimed exceed twenty dollars; also in actions for replevin for amounts over twenty dollars. Two terms of the County Court are held in each county, annually, over which one of the Judges of the Supreme Court presides, assisted by the two County Judges. All actions out of the original jurisdiction of the County and Chancery Courts, except for divorce, must be brought before a Justice of the Peace.

The Common Pleas Court of this State having been abolished, the court of general jurisdiction is that of the Circuit Court. The county of Marion has what is called a Superior Court, the terms of which begin on the first Monday in each month except the months of July and August; the jurisdiction of which in civil cases, with some two or three exceptions, is the same as that of the Circuit Court. It has no jurisdiction in criminal cases, or in probate matters, or in cases of slander.

This State has also what is called a Criminal Circuit Court, in the counties of Marion, Allen, Tippecanoe, Vigo, Vanderburgh, Floyd and Clarke. The last two named counties constitute together a Criminal Circuit. These Criminal Courts, in their respective counties and circuits, have exclusive jurisdiction over criminal cases, the (Civil) Circuit Courts in such counties having no jurisdiction over criminal actions. The Circuit Courts and the Criminal Circuit Courts, and the Superior Court, mentioned aforesaid, compose all the courts of the State of Indiana, except the Supreme Court of the State, which is a Court of Appeal, and the Justices' Courts, which are inferior courts of limited jurisdiction, the jurisdiction of which, as a general rule, is limited to their respective townships.

SUPREME COURT holds two terms annually, at Indianapolis, fourth Mondays May and November.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT holds two terms annually, at Indianapolis, first Tuesdays in May and November.

PROBATE COURT.—The terms of the Probate Courts and County Courts are the same, excepting the Probate Courts of Monterey, Nevada, San Benito, San Francisco, Santa Clara, Sierra, Sutter and Yuba, which hold terms 1st Monday each month; Tuolumne, 4th Monday each month; and Shasta, 1st Monday February, April, June, August, October, December.

SUPREME COURT.—There must be four terms in each year for the hearing of causes, to commence on the 2d Monday of January, April, July, October, and to continue until the 4th Saturday thereafter inclusive, unless all the cases ready for hearing be sooner heard. They may, however, be continued as much longer as, in the opinion of the court, the public interests require. Additional terms may also be held by order of the court. Opinions may be filed and judgments and orders entered in vacation.

The terms of the District Courts must be held at the county seats of the several counties. Each term must be held until the business is disposed of, or until a day fixed for the commencement of some other term in the district. The court may adjourn from time to time during the term; when the public convenience requires, adjourn the term over the time fixed by law for the commencement of another term in the same district.

Judgments and orders of this court may be entered either in term or vacation.

* County Judge calls special terms at discretion.

The telegraphs of the United States are not under Government control, and therefore are not included in the above table. There were at the beginning of 1871 under control of telegraph companies in the United States routes occupying 73,271 miles, using 150,843 miles of wire, and having in use 5914 offices.
